Through partnerships with local organizations and institutions we will direct and mobilize resources to build local institutional and individual capacity for integrated, sustainable development.
Using our platform and our brand to highlight, elevate, and endorse the good work that CJLF partners and others are doing in the area of STI for development.
Bottom-to-top approach to enhancing leadership skills in STI for development. By engaging leaders at the community, municipal, and national levels in STI capacity building, we can utilize evidence from local development projects to inform and direct policy, and build policy and advocacy literacy.
Ensuring that Prof Calestous Juma’s original thought work remains an integral part of the dialogue on STI for development, that his legacy is preserved, and his vision realized.
